

DISRUPTION OF LECTURES, SEMINARS AND OTHER UNIVERSITY ACTIVITIES

All members of the University are reminded that under the General Regulations for Discipline<sup>1</sup> they may not:

- (a) intentionally or recklessly disrupt or impede or attempt to disrupt or impede the activities and functions of the University, or any part thereof, or of any College.
- (b) intentionally or recklessly impede freedom of speech or lawful assembly within the Precincts of the University.
- (c) intentionally or recklessly fail to give any notice which is required to be given to a University officer or a University authority under the terms of a code of practice issued under the provisions of section 43 of the Education (No. 2) Act 1986.
- (d) intentionally occupy or use any property of the University or of any College except as may be expressly or by implication authorized by the University or College authorities concerned.

Under these Regulations they must:

- (a) comply with any instruction given by a University officer, or by any other person authorized to act on behalf of the University, in the proper discharge of his or her duties.
- (b) state their names and the Colleges to which they belong when asked by a Proctor or Pro-Proctor, or by any other person in authority in the University or in any of the Colleges in the University.

If the authority for a room has prohibited it, then taking into that room, or consuming in it, food or drink, is therefore a breach of discipline.

Action may be taken against any member of the University who does not comply with the Disciplinary Regulations.
